

Negro Mothers, Children Picket School

PICKET SCHOOL—A group of Negro mothers and their school-age youngsters gathered at [unclear] schools each morning last week following the opening of elementary school last Wednesday, [unclear] the failure to register their children in the white schools. This group, pictured Friday [unclear] included seven mothers and about 20 youngsters. They returned to "picket" the school [unclear] Monday morning. (Staff Photo)